Join a privileged few on aboard The Royal Scotsman, with a maximum of just 36 guests as you explore the magnificent scenery of the Scottish Highlands.

Departing from Edinburgh Waverley Station, The Royal Scotsman takes guests straight to the heart of Scotland, passing through glens, lochs and mountains steeped in the lore of characters such as Rob Roy and Bonnie Prince Charles.
Guests disembark daily to visit exceptional places of interest, such as romantic castles, whisky distilleries and private residences. Life on the train is relaxed and indulgent, with the finest local produce served in the Dining Cars. After dinner, relax with rare malt in the stunning Edwardian Observation Car as your very own Highlander regales you with stories of life in Scotland in centuries gone by.
As the evening mist enshrouds the distant peaks The Royal Scotsman slips quietly into a siding where it stables for the night, guaranteeing a peaceful night's sleep.
With a variety of itineraries available from two to seven nights, a journey on The Royal Scotsman is an experience to be treasured. It may have a beginning and an end but the memories will be valued forever.

Each bed is furnished with one feather and one foam pillow, feather duvet and cotton quilted bed covers. Non-feather duvets are also available on request. With the train stabled at night in a quiet siding or station, you are assured a good night's sleep.

Dining & Cuisine

Dining on The Royal Scotsman is an exquisite experience. Our fixed menus reflect the many seasonal changes and are consistently regarded as amongst the very finest in Britain.

The train's chefs create dishes to exacting standards despite the restricted space. Dining on board the beautifully decorated, mahogany-panelled dining room is an experience to savour with meals prepared with local ingredients, such as Scottish smoked salmon, and served with wine for all tastes.

Our extensive cellar provides a range of fine wines to accompany lunch and dinner, and we offer a fine range of liqueurs and malt whiskies. The choice of a full Scottish cooked breakfast or a continental breakfast is available every morning.

Both Dining Cars are beautifully decorated with rich mahogany panelling and luxurious fabrics. Victory provides sixteen elegant settings grouped in twos and fours, while Raven has larger tables for six or eight. This offers you the chance to make new friends with your fellow guests or simply enjoy the company of the one you're with.

Formal and Informal Dinners

There are formal and informal dinners aboard The Royal Scotsman, usually on alternate nights. For the formal dinners we encourage a tuxedo or kilt for gentleman and a cocktail dress or similar evening wear for ladies. For the informal dinners a jacket and tie is the norm for gentlemen, except at times of unusually hot weather.
