

The Paris Metro card gives you access to the Paris underground metro network. Travel by bus or metro on the Region de France lines (RER express system and SNCF lines). Choose from either the Zones 1-3 (inner city) or Zones 1-5 (including travel to airports and Disneyland Paris).

When visiting Paris, don't forget that your Paris Metro card is valid for travel on the many buses that run all over this amazing city. While taking a bus in Paris might seem like a challenge it really isn't, and the bus can be both more scenic and less claustrophobic than the metro. Taking time to get familiar with Paris' clean and pleasant buses can pay off.

General information

The Paris Metro card is available in Zones 1-3 (Central Paris only) & Zones 1-5 and provides unlimited access to all Paris and suburban public transport. Depending on which zones you select, Paris Visite allows you to travel on:

- The Metro
- RER lines (RATP and SNCF)
- Buses (includes the airport links Orlybus and Roissybus)
- The Tramway
- The Montmartre funicular
- Night buses (Noctabus)
- Ile-de-France bus lines (RATP and OPTILE), except those circulating on Jetbus, Allobus Roissy CDG, tourist excursion and Air France networks;
- The Orlyval light rail- linking Orly Airport to the RER B (included in zones 1-6)
- Travel to Disneyland Paris and Versailles (included in zones 1-6)
- Cardholders will receive a booklet of vouchers offering free or discounted services

Please note: Travel is valid for consecutive days only

Tickets vary and are valid for travel as follows:

- Zones 1-3: Paris and the inner suburbs; covers access to La Defense, Le Bourget and Saint-Denis Basilique
- Zones 1-5: Paris and the outer suburbs; covers access to Versailles, Disneyland Resort Paris, Saint Germain-en-Laye and the exhibition centre at Villepinte, Rambouillet, Provins and Fontainebleau

Tickets valid for zones 1-5 can also be used for travel to and from Orly and Roissy-Charles-de-Gaulle airports using RER trains, RATP buses and the Orlyval light rail.

Paris Bus Stops

Paris bus stops are found all around the city and more often than not are hubs for several different lines. Recently, a majority of bus stops were equipped with electronic information systems that tell you when to expect the next bus. Neighbourhood maps and bus routes are also displayed at most stations. Certain bus routes are particularly scenic and can be a cheap alternative to Paris bus tours.

- Line 38 runs North to South through the city centre and provides memorable views of the Latin Quarter, the Seine River, or Notre Dame Cathedral.
- Line 68 offers a vantage of the Musee d'Orsay, Saint-Germain des Pres, the Seine River, The Louvre and the Opera Garnier.
- Line 28 offers lovely views of the Ecole Militaire, the Assemble Nationale, the Seine River, Le Grand Palais, and the Champs-Elysees.
- Line 96 goes through beautiful spots on the right bank, including Hotel de Ville, the Medieval Marais neighbourhood and trendy Bastille.
- Line 22, 30, 31, 52, 73, 92 will take you to the Arc de Triomphe.
- Line 27 has stops at Opera Garnier, The Louvre, Jardin du Luxembourg, views of Notre Dame Cathedral, and close stops for Sorbonne and Pantheon.
- Line 42, 69, 72, 82, 87 will take you to the Eiffel Tower.
