Onboard Night trains to/from Poland

Sleepers

- The sleeping cars are a step up from the couchettes, it is a more comfortable way to travel through the night

- 1, 2 or 3 berths to a compartment
- When compartments are shared, they are designated as single-sex only -- you must choose male or female for your clients
- room for luggage
- mirror and sink
- the beds are more comfortable and there is more noise isolation

Couchettes

- Couchettes are an economical way to travel, but if you want more privacy or quiet, you might want to consider a sleeping car.
- The compartments are quite narrow and confined once the beds are folded down and everyone's luggage is stowed.
- Pillow, blanket and clean sheets but the travellers need to make up their own bunk

Reclining seat

- Reclining seats in open-plan coaches permit overnight travel at low prices
- Washrooms and toilets in each coach

Wars restaurant

- snacks, and usually several hot dishes
- tables where you can stand and eat / sit-down tables sit-down table service with a number of hot and cold meals
